November 14, 2014 is a day the Cole Family will never forget. It is the day they got the call that their gas station was on fire. It was a total loss. The Cole Family decided to team up with Keller and rebuild the BP Hi-Way Hop in Lomira. The tight timeline led the way for construction of the 6,200-square-foot full-service gas station that also includes a Taco Bell. The aesthetically appealing facility features a brick exterior including an Aluminum Slat facade that is back lit; a walk-in beer cave; a large, one-of-a-kind mural; open structure ceilings and custom built cabinetry.
